HABITAT GARDENS FOR WILDLIFE

Creating 'wildflower rooms' to provide habitat for the insects that under-pin the food web in nature.

Presenter: Jim Robinson

Jim has worked for Greening Australia for 30 years and is a long term member of the Conservation Society and a regular visitor to his holiday house in Inverloch. He is a passionate conservationist with practical solutions to the decline in biodiversity occurring in Victoria.

He can envisage a room-sized garden bed full of wildflowers, potentially in every garden in South Gippsland. Many of our wildflowers have disappeared from natural places and the butterflies, moths, native bees and other insects that depend on them have disappeared too. Most are attractive plants and suitable for gardens, both for their beauty and for their benefit.

Please RSVP to info@sgcs.org.au or phone the shop on 5674 3738

For members and friends who would like to join us we will be at the Whalebone Hotel, Wonthaggi, from 5.30 to have a meal before the session.
